Profile

A confident and creative editor, I also have a wealth of technical knowledge and skills when it comes to post production and delivery. Calm under pressure, I am equally happy working in fiction or documentary. I use Avid, Premier, Final Cut and a range of other, relevant software.

I have an MA in Editing from the National Film and Television School, and short films that I have edited have been selected for festivals, including Cannes Film Festival, Annecy Animation Festival, Sheffield Doc Fest, London Short Film Festival and East End Film Festival. The Bigger Picture won the 2015 BAFTA for best short animation and was nominated for the 2015 Oscar in the same category.

Other Relevant Experience

I am a visiting tutor at the National Film and Television School, working regularly on several courses including the BFI Film Academy – a two-week residential course for 16-18 year olds, the Director's Series – a fiction directing summer short course, Summer Docs – where I help support eight first time documentary filmmakers technically and creatively through an incredibly intensive three-week edit. I have also been involved in the MA Documentary Admissions Workshop, helping to select the new intake of students.
